Product overview

Unlined Dark Brown Full-Grain Leather Gloves (Guanti Sfoderati Pelle Testa di Moro) are duty gloves designed for military and uniformed personnel including Esercito, Carabinieri, Marina and Aeronautica Militare. These gloves combine a formal, professional appearance with practical, everyday use for tactical, police and military surplus needs.

Definition: Unlined full-grain leather gloves in the traditional testa di moro (dark brown) color, made for duty and formal uniform wear. They meet the standard appearance expectations for most corps; only the Bersaglieri wear black leather gloves instead of brown.

Main features

Simple, durable design focused on appearance and comfort during regular use.

- Full-grain leather: Durable, natural leather with a premium feel.
- Unlined construction: Lightweight, flexible fit for good dexterity.
- Testa di moro color: Traditional dark brown finish suited to most uniforms.
- Elegant, professional look: Clean lines that complement formal and duty attire.
- All-season versatility: Suitable for daily wear and formal occasions when unlined gloves are specified.
- Easy maintenance: Leather that can be cleaned and cared for with standard leather products.

How to use / When it’s useful

These gloves are intended as part of the winter uniform kit and should be carried by personnel whenever the uniform rules require gloves. They work well for routine duty, ceremonial use, and everyday outdoor tasks where a neat appearance and basic hand protection are needed.

Quick answer: Yes — these gloves are suitable for daily duty and formal wear where an unlined, dark brown leather glove is required. In most cases, follow your unit’s uniform regulations; remember the Bersaglieri use black leather gloves instead of brown.

Care and notes

Basic leather care will keep the gloves in good condition and extend their service life.

- Wipe clean with a soft, slightly damp cloth; avoid soaking the leather.
- Use a suitable leather cleaner and conditioner occasionally to prevent drying and cracking.
- Do not machine wash or tumble dry; dry naturally away from direct heat or sunlight.
- Store in a cool, dry place and avoid prolonged exposure to moisture or chemicals.

FAQ

Q: What material are these gloves made from?

A: They are made from full-grain leather, an unlined, high-quality natural leather chosen for durability and appearance.

Q: Which military corps can wear these gloves?

A: They are suitable for Esercito, Carabinieri, Marina and Aeronautica Militare. Note: the Bersaglieri traditionally wear black leather gloves instead of brown.

Q: Are these gloves lined for extra warmth?

A: No — these are unlined gloves, offering a lighter, more flexible fit rather than added insulation.

Q: How do I choose the correct size?

A: Measure hand circumference and length according to standard glove sizing. Choose a snug but comfortable fit for best dexterity and appearance.

Q: Can I use these gloves for tactical or police work?

A: They are suitable for duty, ceremonial, and general police or tactical appearance needs where an unlined leather glove is acceptable; they are not specialized protective gloves for hazardous tasks.

Q: How should I clean and maintain them?

A: Clean with a damp cloth, apply leather conditioner periodically, and avoid machine washing or direct heat. Follow basic leather care practices to preserve finish and flexibility.

Tip: Choose the correct size for a neat fit and check your unit’s uniform rules; consider browsing related duty and military surplus glove options to find the best match for your needs.
