Product overview

The Soggolo Sovrintendente Capo Polizia di Stato is a uniform shoulder cord intended for members of the Polizia di Stato. It is worn by personnel who hold the rank of Sovrintendente Capo and follows official uniform placement at the temples.

Definition: the soggolo is a gold ribbon shoulder cord, edged in black, with a central black stripe and three gold galloons threaded in black indicating rank. Suitable for police, duty, and tactical uniform use.

Main features

This shoulder cord combines a traditional design with durable construction, clearly indicating rank while fitting standard uniform placements.

- Distinctive design: Gold ribbon with black edging and a central black stripe for a professional look.
- Rank insignia: Three gold galloons threaded in black denote the Sovrintendente Capo rank.
- Durable construction: Made from resilient materials for long service life.
- Reserved item: Available only to Polizia di Stato personnel after verification.
- Easy to fit: Designed for straightforward application to the uniform at the temple area.
- Suitable for duty and ceremonial wear: Meets typical requirements for police dress and tactical appearances.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: wear the soggolo on the uniform at the temple level to indicate the Sovrintendente Capo rank. It is primarily for official duty, ceremonial occasions, and replacement of issued items.

In most cases, the cord is fitted by sliding or attaching it to the designated shoulder or headpiece position according to your unit’s uniform rules. Ensure the galloons are visible and aligned with other rank insignia.

Care and notes
