Definition: a tubolare is a small embroidered shoulder insignia that identifies rank on a uniform. Suitable for tactical, police and military surplus collections and for official service uniforms.

- Distinctive design: Three silver bars (6 mm each) with black striations, red edging, a gold five-point star with red piping, and the silver grenade with the RI monogram.
- Exact dimensions: Size 6 x 9 cm, designed to fit standard Carabinieri uniforms.
- Exclusivity: Reserved for Carabinieri personnel; collectors may purchase only with a prefettizia license (art. 28 TULPS).

How to use / When it’s useful

Use these tubolari to replace worn insignia on service uniforms, to complete a dress or duty outfit, or to add to an authenticated military surplus or police collection. They are sized to attach to standard uniform shoulder areas without altering the uniform fit.

Quick answer: they are for Luogotenente rank Carabinieri and for licensed collectors only. In most cases, orders will be delivered directly to the Carabinieri station listed as the recipient to comply with distribution rules.

Care and notes

Keep the tubolari in good condition by storing them flat and avoiding abrasive cleaning methods; the canutiglia thread is durable but should be treated gently.

- Store flat in a dry place to preserve embroidery and shape.
- Clean gently with a soft brush; avoid aggressive solvents or machine washing.
- Orders for civilians require a copy of the prefettizia license under art. 28 TULPS.
