Product overview

The Fregio Artiglieria Alpina Truppa is a badge for the Alpini hat, intended for members of the Artiglieria Alpina, collectors, reenactors, and tactical or military surplus enthusiasts. It displays the traditional emblem used by troop ranks and signals unit identity and heritage.

Definition: a metal or embroidered badge showing an eagle with outstretched wings resting on the regimental-number disc, framed by two trumpets above crossed mortars. The item has limited availability, so consider ordering soon if you need it for display or duty uniforms.

Main features

This Alpini artillery badge combines historical design with durable materials and comes in three finishes to suit different uses and status.

- Traditional design: Eagle with outstretched wings over the regimental-number disc, between two trumpets and crossed mortars.
- Three variants: black thread with gold edge (for congedante), black thread, and black plastic.
- Compact size: 8 cm × 7 cm, sized for the Alpini hat without being bulky.
- Durable options: embroidered and plastic variants for long-term use in display or field conditions.
- Suitable for display: ideal for uniforms, collections, reenactment, and tactical or duty display setups.

How to use / When it’s useful

Wear this fregio on the Alpini hat to show troop affiliation and preserve traditional presentation. It is intended for troop ranks, uniform displays, and collectors who want an authentic-looking insignia.

Quick answer: It is designed to fit the Alpini hat and will sit neatly on the front without covering other insignia. In most cases, choose the embroidered variant for a dress or ceremonial look and the plastic version for a low-cost or field-usable option.

Care and notes

Basic care will keep the badge presentable and durable; follow standard handling for embroidered and plastic insignia.

- Keep embroidered versions away from heavy abrasion to protect threadwork.
- Clean plastic badges with a soft cloth; avoid harsh solvents.
- Store flat and dry to prevent deformation or discoloration.
- Limited availability: stock may run low, so check availability before planning an event.

FAQ

Q: What are the dimensions of the Fregio Artiglieria Alpina Truppa?

A: The badge measures 8 cm × 7 cm. This size is intended to fit the front of the Alpini hat without appearing oversized.

Q: Which materials and finishes are available?

A: It is offered in three variants: black thread with a gold edge (for congedante), black thread, and black plastic. Each finish is chosen for durability and appearance.

Q: Will this fregio fit all Alpini hats?

A: The design is produced to fit standard Alpini hats. If you have a non-standard hat model, check dimensions or contact customer support for guidance.

Q: How do I purchase the badge?

A: Add the desired variant to your cart on the product page and complete checkout. Availability is shown on the site and may change due to demand.

Q: Is the badge durable for regular use?

A: Yes. The embroidered variants are made with quality thread for long-term wear, and the plastic version offers an easy-care alternative for field or casual use.

Q: Is the regimental-number disc customizable?

A: The product is offered as shown with the regimental-number disc included in the design. For specific requests or custom options, contact customer support to confirm availability.

Tip: Choose the variant that matches your intended use—embroidered for dress or ceremonial wear, plastic for economical or field use—and check stock before finalizing your order. Browse related alpine and military surplus items to complete your uniform or collection.
