Product overview

The Giaccone Impermeabile Esercito Anni 80/90 is an off?duty military overcoat designed for civilians, collectors, and tactical users who want authentic military surplus styling with practical weather protection. It suits anyone looking for a durable olive?green coat for duty, police, or outdoor use.

Definition: a water?repellent, olive?green cotton military coat from the 1980s–90s with removable insulation and a concealed front closure. The coat pairs historic design with functional details for everyday wear.

Main features

Built for utility and season?by?season use, this coat combines practical closures, storage and reinforcement typical of military clothing.

- Fabric: Water?repellent cotton in olive green for protection from rain and damp conditions.
- Front closure: Concealed front with green plastic buttons; the size 52 variant has a zipper.
- Reinforced shoulders: Padded shoulder panel with removable straps for extra support and durability.
- Adjustable cuffs: Velcro cuffs with a browned metal closure (pluriarma Esercito) for a custom fit.
- Storage: Two large front pockets for essentials and everyday carry.
- Removable lining: Internal polyamide fiber padding with a drawcord; detachable for use in milder weather.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: wear it as a rain?resistant outer layer in cold or wet weather, or remove the inner padding for milder seasons. The removable lining makes the coat adaptable from autumn through winter and into spring.

In most cases, use it as a durable daily jacket for outdoor work, tactical training, or as part of a military surplus or duty wardrobe. Its off?duty design fits collectors and civilians seeking an authentic look.
