How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Wear it for historical reenactments, displays, photo shoots, formal costume events, or as part of a private collection. It is designed primarily as a reproduction accessory rather than an operational duty cap.

In most cases, choose a size that matches your head measurements and reserve extra production time if you request specific tailoring. The cap works well as a focal item in a uniform set or as a standalone collector's piece.

Care and notes

Basic care and practical notes to keep the cap in good condition.

- Store on a hat stand or flat surface to preserve shape and avoid creasing.
- Clean gently—professional dry cleaning is recommended for best results with gabardine; spot-clean when appropriate.
- Production times are agreed on order to ensure attention to detail; expect made-to-order lead time.
- This is a reproduction for historical and display purposes and is not an official issued item or certified for operational use.

FAQ

Q: What are the production times for the cap?

A: Production times are arranged at the time of order to ensure careful workmanship. Lead time may vary depending on current demand and any requested custom details.

Q: Is the cap available in different sizes?

A: Yes, sizes are available. Refer to the site's size guide or contact customer service to confirm measurements for the best fit.

Q: Is this cap suitable for historical reenactments?

A: Absolutely—its faithful design and authentic badge detail make it well suited to reenactments, ceremonies, and displays.

Q: What material is used for the cap?

A: The cap is made from blue gabardine, a durable and refined woven fabric commonly used for uniform reproductions.

Q: Can I request custom details or personalization?

A: Customization is possible; production timing and details should be discussed before ordering to confirm feasibility and lead times.

Q: Is the cap an original Regia Aeronautica issue?

A: No, it is a faithful reproduction designed for collectors and enthusiasts, not an original or officially issued military item.

Tip: Choose the correct size by checking head measurements before ordering and consider our related military surplus and vintage uniform accessories to complete your display or kit.
