Product overview

The Medaglia di Benemerenza per l'Emergenza Etna 1991-92 is a commemorative medal honoring civilian and military personnel who served during the Etna emergency of 1991–1992. It is aimed at collectors, veterans, emergency responders, and anyone wishing to recognize service during that event.

Definition: a commemorative merit medal issued to recognize significant service and dedication during the Etna emergency of 1991–1992.

Main features

Clear, accurate details help identify the medal and its symbolic elements.

- Material and size: darkened (burnished) silver disc, 35 millimetres diameter, approx. 22 grams.
- Front design: two clasped hands symbolizing solidarity, surmounted by the emblem of the Dipartimento della Protezione Civile.
- Reverse details: emblem of the Repubblica Italiana at top; inscription on three lines "EMERGENZA ETNA 1991-1992" (straight type) and "BENEMERENZA" (italic); edge inscriptions include "Presidenza del Consiglio dei Ministri" (italic) and "Dipartimento della Protezione Civile" (larger straight type).
- Ribbon: vertical stripes reproducing the Italian flag colors and the Civil Protection emblem with the sequence: green, white, red, yellow, light blue, green, white, red.
- Intended recipients: awarded or reserved for civilian volunteers, technical staff and operators, and military or police personnel who served during the crisis.
- Availability: produced in limited quantities and sought after for its historical and symbolic value.

How to use / When it’s useful

The medal is mainly a collectible or commemorative item: suitable for display, preservation in a collection, or as a personal tribute to service during the Etna emergency. It is also appropriate as a gift to veterans, emergency responders, or family members wishing to honor service.

Quick answer: use it for display, commemoration, or as part of a medal collection. In most cases, buyers treat this as a keepsake or historical piece rather than routine wear.

Care and notes

Store and care for the medal to preserve its finish and inscriptions. Handle gently and avoid harsh chemicals.

- Keep in a dry, padded box or display case to prevent scratches and tarnish.
- Clean gently with a soft cloth; avoid abrasive or acidic cleaners that could damage the burnished silver finish.
- Do not expose to prolonged moisture or chemicals (perfume, cleaning agents).
- Note the limited availability when purchasing; stock may be restricted due to demand and historical significance.

FAQ

Q: Who was eligible for the Medaglia di Benemerenza per l'Emergenza Etna 1991-92?

A: The medal recognizes civilian volunteers, technical operators and personnel, and military and police members who demonstrated notable service during the 1991–1992 Etna emergency.

Q: What are the main physical characteristics of the medal?

A: It is a burnished silver disc, 35 mm in diameter and about 22 g in weight, with symbolic front and back designs and a multicolored ribbon reflecting Italian and Civil Protection colors.

Q: Is this an original official recognition or a commemorative reproduction?

A: The listing describes the medal as an honor linked to the Etna 1991–1992 emergency; verify the product description and seller details if you need documentation of official issue or provenance.

Q: How can I buy this medal?
