Product overview

The BlackFox BF 726 throwing knife is a fixed-blade throwing knife made for sport throwers, collectors, and tactical-gear enthusiasts. It suits users from beginners to experienced throwers who want a balanced, easy-to-handle knife for target practice or display.

Definition: The BlackFox BF 726 is a 22.8 cm throwing knife with an 11 cm blade, a nylon cord-wrapped handle and a black nylon sheath. Limited availability has made this model popular among tactical, military surplus and duty gear shoppers.

Main features

Designed for controlled throws and secure handling, the BF 726 pairs practical construction with a simple, serviceable design.

- 11 cm blade — compact length for precise, controlled throws.
- Nylon cord-wrapped handle — improves grip and comfort during use.
- Black nylon sheath — included for safe transport and blade protection.
- Total length 22.8 cm — balanced for throwing performance.
- Suitable for beginners and experienced users — simple setup and handling.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Use the BF 726 for target practice, throwing drills, and as a display piece in a collection. It performs well for standard throwing techniques due to its balance and compact blade.

In most cases, start with close-range throws and progress as you build consistency. The nylon cord handle helps maintain grip during repeated practice sessions, and the sheath keeps the blade secure between uses.

Care and notes

Keep the knife safe and in good condition with basic care and sensible handling.

- Keep the blade clean and dry before storing in the sheath.
- Always use the nylon sheath for transport to protect the edge and prevent accidents.
- Handle with care: the blade is sharp and intended for adult use only.
- Check and follow local laws and regulations on carrying and using throwing knives.
