Product overview

The Soggolo Sergente Aeronautica Militare is a dress neckpiece worn by Sergeants of the Aeronautica Militare, designed to match formal uniforms and indicate rank. This item is intended for serving Aeronautica Militare personnel and licensed collectors.

Definition: A soggolo is a uniform neck ribbonpiece used to display rank insignia. Availability is limited and sale requires identity verification (PDF of military ID or barracks information); collectors must provide a prefectural license under art. 28 TULPS. Suitable for military surplus, tactical dress, and duty uniform use.

Main features

Built to match official appearance requirements, the soggolo combines traditional materials and precise detailing for a professional look.

- Material: blue silk ribbon mounted on black backing (salpa nera).
- Gold stripe: central gold stripe, 5 mm wide, running lengthwise.
- Dimensions: length 32 cm; height 15 mm.
- Rank detail: blue rank stripes crossed by the central gold stripe and applied at the temple level.
- Durability: made from quality materials for long-lasting wear with formal uniforms.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Wear the soggolo at the temple level on either side of the head as part of the Sergeant dress uniform. It fits traditional uniform layouts and is intended to be attached where indicated by service dress regulations.

In most cases, personnel attach the rank stripes on the soggolo to match the official placement on the uniform; collectors keep the piece as part of a military surplus or historical collection. This product is appropriate for ceremonial, parade, and formal duty dress.

Care and notes

Keep the soggolo in good condition with simple care and observe purchase restrictions.

- Store flat and away from direct sunlight to protect the silk ribbon and gold stripe.
- Clean gently by spot cleaning with a soft cloth; avoid machine washing or abrasive chemicals.
- Sale restricted to Aeronautica Militare personnel or collectors with the required licence—identity verification required before shipping.
- Limited stock: orders may be delayed or declined if verification is not provided.
