Product overview

The Fregio Ricamato Ufficiali Artiglieria Alpina is a hand-embroidered badge meant for officers, non-commissioned officers and permanent volunteers who wear the cappello alpino. It is designed to represent the Artiglieria Alpina corps with traditional symbols and high-quality materials.

Definition: a hand-embroidered gold-thread badge on grey cloth for the cappello alpino. This item is suitable for military surplus collectors, tactical kit displays, duty uniforms and police or ceremonial use. Availability is limited due to its artisanal production.

Main features

Key features that make this badge suitable for uniform use and display:

- Hand-embroidered craft: Made with gold canutiglia thread for detailed, raised embroidery.
- Iconic design: Shows an eagle clutching a disk with the regiment number, placed on a bugle and overlapping crossed weapons.
- High-quality materials: Embroidered on grey cloth to maintain appearance over time.
- Size: 12 cm width x 10 cm height—fits standard cappello alpino dimensions.
- Adopted by: Worn by Ufficiali, Sottufficiali and Volontari in Servizio Permanente on rabbit-felt cappello alpino.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use this fregio as the emblem on the front of the cappello alpino for formal uniforms, ceremonial dress, or as part of a military or tactical collection. It is intended for placement on rabbit-felt alpine hats according to traditional uniform practice.

Quick answer: It is fitted to the cappello alpino as the official badge for Artiglieria Alpina ranks. In most cases, it can be sewn or affixed by a professional tailor or uniform shop to ensure correct placement and durability.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the embroidery and cloth in good condition over time.

- Avoid machine washing; spot-clean gently with a soft cloth and mild detergent if necessary.
- Store flat or on a hat form to prevent bending and abrasion of the gold thread.
- Handle by the edges to reduce contact with the embroidered surface.
- For bulk orders, check current stock before placing a large purchase—production is artisanal and quantities are limited.

FAQ

Q: What are the dimensions of the fregio?

A: The badge measures 12 cm in width and 10 cm in height, sized for the cappello alpino.

Q: Is the fregio only for officers?

A: No. It is adopted by Ufficiali, Sottufficiali and Volontari in Servizio Permanente and fits the standard cappello alpino used by these ranks.

Q: How is the fregio made?

A: It is hand-embroidered with gold canutiglia thread on grey cloth, produced using traditional embroidery techniques.

Q: Will the fregio last over time?

A: Yes, with proper care and careful handling the materials are chosen for durability; avoid rough cleaning and store it properly to prolong life.

Q: Can I buy this fregio in large quantities?

A: Because each piece is handcrafted, availability is limited. Please contact us to confirm stock for bulk or repeat orders.

Q: How should the fregio be attached to the cappello alpino?

A: It is normally sewn in place by a tailor or uniform specialist to ensure correct positioning and secure attachment on rabbit-felt hats.
