How to use / When it's useful

Quick answer: wear it to show support during public events, volunteer activities, community fundraisers, or as an everyday polo with a duty/tactical look. The polo is made for visible support and casual wear rather than heavy operational use.

In most cases, it works well as part of a casual or tactical-inspired wardrobe for supporters of the Croce Rossa Italiana and collectors of military surplus-style garments. It can be worn alone or layered under jackets during cooler weather.

Care and notes

Follow basic care to preserve embroidery and color. Consider the size guide before ordering and note limited stock may apply.
