Product overview

The Chepì Colonnello Comandante Artiglieria a Cavallo is the ceremonial peaked cap worn by the Colonel Commander of the Artiglieria a Cavallo regiment. It is intended for serving military personnel and licensed collectors who require an authentic uniform headdress.

Definition: this Chepì is a handcrafted military ceremonial hat made to regimental specifications, combining traditional details with durable materials. Suitable for military uniforms, collectors of military surplus, and ceremonial duty use.

Main features

Handmade to reflect the historical look of the regiment, this Chepì includes traditional insignia and finishing. Key features include:

- Exterior: body wrapped in khaki wool cloth for an authentic, durable finish
- End cap: closed with an olive-green plastic rim for a secure edge
- Interior: fully lined with a brown sweatband (alluda) for comfort during long wear
- Accessories included: rank insignia, mountings, buttons, tassel, braided cords, tricolor cockade, regimental badge, soggolo (chinstrap) and braid
- Plume (criniera): designed for parade, honor guard, and full-dress uniform occasions

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: wear this Chepì for formal military duties such as guard duties, parades, honor services and winter dress uniform. In most cases, the plume is worn on national and regimental feast days and removed on ordinary days unless specified by regulation.

The Chepì is part of the standard uniform kit for Artiglieria a Cavallo personnel. It is commonly used for picket and guard services at barracks, ceremonial parades, and formal winter duty. It also appeals to licensed collectors of military surplus and historical uniform items.

Care and notes

Store the Chepì in a cool, dry place and handle the mounted insignia with care to preserve the handcrafted details.
