CASM Metal Badge, Center for Advanced Military Studies

www.tuttomilitare.com

Product price:

€35.00 tax included

Product codes:

Reference: Dist. EI/703
EAN13: 0658606569935
UPC: 658606569935

Product features:

Product short description:

The CASM Metal Badge is a recognition emblem for personnel who have completed the course at the Centro Alti Studi Militari. Crafted from high-quality metal, it honors professional achievement and is suitable to wear on service or dress uniforms, or to keep as a commemorative keepsake.

- Material: High-quality metal with a refined, detailed finish.
- Use: Recognition for graduates of the Centro Alti Studi Militari; intended for wear or display.
- Design: Elegant, detailed emblem that serves as a distinctive accessory or collectible.
- Note: Verify your unit's uniform regulations before wearing.

Product description:

Product overview

This metal CASM Centro Alti Studi Militari badge is a historic, enameled lapel pin for collectors, veterans, and enthusiasts of military surplus, tactical gear, and police history. It is suitable for display, civilian wear, or adding to a collection of insignia.

Definition: a small enameled metal badge produced in the 1950s, bearing the symbols of the Italian Army, Navy and Air Force and fitted with an eyelet for attachment to civilian clothing.

Main features

Classic 1950s design and solid construction make this badge a durable collector’s item and a tasteful civilian accessory.

- Historic design: 1950s-era scudo sannitico (Sanitic shield) with a gold perimeter border.
- Military symbols: gold grenade of the Army on red, gold anchor with twisted rope of the Navy on blue, and gold eagle of the Air Force on light blue.
- High-quality materials: enameled metal construction for lasting finish.
- Compact size: 16 mm height × 9 mm width — discreet but visible.
- Easy to attach: fitted with an eyelet for use on civilian jackets, lapels, or displays.
- Collector interest: limited availability and period production make it sought after by collectors of military surplus and insignia.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: wear it on civilian clothing, add it to a display case, or keep it with a collection of military pins and tactical memorabilia. The eyelet makes it simple to attach to fabrics or small mounts.

In most cases, this badge is used as a collectible or commemorative piece rather than as an official service insignia. It suits veterans, history enthusiasts, and tactical or police memorabilia collectors who value authentic period items.

Care and notes

Handle as a vintage metal badge: simple care will preserve the enamel and metal finish while keeping the eyelet functional.

- Keep dry and avoid prolonged exposure to moisture to reduce risk of tarnish.
- Clean gently with a soft, dry cloth; avoid abrasive cleaners or polishes.
- Check the eyelet before attaching to fabrics to prevent snagging or damage.
- Expect minor signs of age consistent with a 1950s production piece.

FAQ

Q: What are the badge dimensions?

A: The badge measures 16 mm in height and 9 mm in width. It is compact and designed to be discreet on civilian clothing or in a display.

Q: What material is the badge made from?

A: This badge is made of enameled metal, providing a durable finish typical of mid-20th century military insignia.

Q: Which symbols are shown on the badge?

A: It features the gold grenade of the Army on a red field, the gold anchor with twisted rope of the Navy on blue, and the gold eagle of the Air Force on light blue.

Q: Is it easy to attach to civilian clothes?

A: Yes. The badge comes with an eyelet that allows simple attachment to jackets, lapels, or small display mounts.

Q: Is this an original piece from the 1950s?

A: Yes. The badge dates to production in the 1950s and shows the characteristics of period-made insignia.

Q: Can I use this badge for duty or official service?

A: No. This item is a collectible and civilian accessory. It is intended for display, collection, or personal wear, not as official service insignia for duty.

Tip: Choose the right item for your collection by checking dimensions and condition, and consider browsing related military lapel pins, insignia, and military surplus items to complete your set.

Product attributes:

Product gallery: