How to use / When it’s useful

Use this helmet cover to add camouflage, carry small accessories and protect the helmet shell from abrasion during operations, training or patrols. It works well in outdoor environments where wind, sand or rough handling are factors.

Quick answer: fit it over a MICH medium cut helmet in sizes M or L and secure using the supplied straps and paracord. In most cases, the M.O.L.L.E. slots let you add mission-specific pouches or ID patches without altering the helmet shell.

Care and notes

- Color is treated for durability, but avoid prolonged sun exposure to extend life.
- Check straps and hook-and-loop fastenings before use to ensure a secure fit.
- Ensure correct helmet size (M/L) for stable mounting and comfort.

FAQ

Q: Is this cover compatible with other helmet models?

A: Yes. It is designed for MICH medium cut helmets in sizes M and L but can fit other helmets with similar shape and dimensions. Fit may vary by model.

Q: How do I wash the helmet cover?

A: Wash with water and a mild, neutral soap. Rinse thoroughly and air dry. Do not use aggressive chemicals or high-temperature drying.

Q: Will the vegetato color fade over time?

A: The fabric is treated to resist fading, but prolonged exposure to sunlight and harsh conditions can reduce color longevity. Store out of direct sun when not in use.

Q: Can I attach accessories to the cover?

A: Yes. The integrated M.O.L.L.E. slots allow for adding compatible pouches, lights or ID panels without modifying the helmet.

Q: Does the cover provide impact protection?

A: The reinforced frontal panel and double ripstop fabric offer extra abrasion resistance and slight cushioning, but the cover is not a substitute for helmet shell protection or certified ballistic systems.

Q: How does the cover stay in place on the helmet?

A: It secures with fixing straps featuring double hook-and-loop fastenings and a perimeter paracord for tension adjustment to keep the cover stable during movement.

Tip: Choose the correct M or L size to ensure a snug fit; check the helmet model before purchase and browse related tactical and military surplus accessories to complete your setup.
