How to use / When it’s useful

These pants are suited for tactical training, field work, law enforcement duty, and general outdoor use where durability and mobility matter. They work well as military surplus-style gear or duty wear for police and security teams.

Quick answer: Wear them when you need sturdy, flexible trousers with cargo storage and attachment points. In most cases, they perform best for active tasks—kneeling, climbing, or carrying essentials on the hip.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the fabric and reinforcements performing longer. Follow gentle washing and avoid actions that stress seams or hardware.

- Machine wash cold on a gentle cycle and line dry to protect fabric and elastic.
- Avoid bleach and harsh chemicals that can weaken fibers and reinforcements.
- Secure D-hooks and remove heavy or sharp items from pockets before laundering.
- Avoid excessive abrasion on rough surfaces to extend the life of ripstop panels and reinforcements.

FAQ

Q: What materials are these pants made of?

A: The pants are made from ripstop fabric: 39% polyester, 59% cotton, and 2% spandex for tear resistance and stretch.

Q: Are the cargo pockets large enough for bulkier items?

A: Yes, the side cargo pockets are roomy and close with Velcro. Each cargo pocket also includes an inner pocket for better organization.

Q: Are the knees and crotch reinforced?

A: Yes, knees and the gusseted crotch have double-layer reinforcement to improve durability while preserving mobility.

Q: How do I choose the right size?

A: Refer to the size list in the product details (Small to XXX-Large). If you are between sizes, consider the elastic waist and choose according to preferred fit.

Q: Can I attach accessories like carabiners or pouches?

A: Yes, the reinforced belt loops (5.8 cm) include 4 D-hooks designed for attaching carabiners or small accessories.

Q: What type of zipper is used?

A: The fly uses a YKK™ zipper with a button closure for dependable performance in the field or daily use.

Tip: Choose the size that matches your waist and preferred fit; check measurements listed in the description. Consider browsing related tactical and military surplus pants to compare fits and features before adding to cart.
