How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Use this bag when you need to move a large volume of gear—on tactical deployments, training, police duty, or multi-day outdoor expeditions. It converts between duffel and backpack carry to suit transport needs.

In most cases, load heavy items low and close to the back to keep the pack balanced and comfortable. The padded straps and reinforced back help for medium-distance carries, but for very long treks consider redistributing weight or using a dedicated trekking pack.

Care and notes

Simple care and a few practical checks keep the bag reliable in the field.

- Clean with a damp cloth and mild soap; air dry completely before storage.
- Inspect zippers, straps and stitching before use to ensure safe carrying.
- Do not overload—120 liters can become very heavy when fully packed; secure load for stability.
- Note: the reinforced PVC bottom adds protection but the bag is not specified as fully waterproof.
