- Laurel crown: fruiting laurel above the cross, symbolizing glory and virtue.
- Ribbon: 37 mm wide red ribbon edged in yellow for a formal appearance.
- Size: sold in a 37 mm format; gala miniature available on request.
- Materials: made with high-quality components, including a decorative laurel and a silk ribbon.
- Limited availability: produced in restricted quantities and in high demand.

How to use / When it's useful

Quick answer: wear the cross at formal ceremonies, official commemorations, or use it as part of a historical or collector's display. It suits military and ceremonial contexts where traditional insignia are appropriate.

In most cases, the 37 mm format is used for full-dress occasions; request the gala miniature if you need a compact version for dinner dress or subdued wear. For mounting or presentation options, contact customer service to confirm the available fastenings and display cases.

Care and notes

Keep the cross in good condition by storing and handling it carefully; follow these basic care tips.

- Store in a dry, cool place away from direct sunlight to preserve ribbon colours.
- Clean gently with a soft, dry cloth; avoid abrasive cleaners or strong chemicals.
- Do not machine wash the ribbon; remove moisture promptly and allow to air dry.
- Availability is limited—order early if you need this item for a specific event.

FAQ

Q: What size is the Croce Cavaliere San Gregorio Magno?

A: The cross is available in a 37 mm format as standard. A gala miniature can be requested for a smaller option.

Q: Can I get a smaller version of the cross?

A: Yes. A miniature gala version is available on request for those who prefer a compact insignia for formal evening dress.

Q: What does "Pro Deo et Principe" mean?

A: It translates to "For God and the Prince," reflecting dedication to religious duty and service to leadership.

Q: What materials are used in the cross?

A: The cross is made from high-quality decorative materials and includes a silk ribbon and a laurel crown element. Exact material composition is kept consistent with its ornamental purpose.

Q: Are there other ribbon colours or variants?

A: This model is supplied with the red ribbon edged in yellow as described. No other colour variants are offered for this specific item.

Q: How should I wear or display the cross?

A: The cross is intended for formal wear or display. For specific mounting or attachment methods, please contact customer service to confirm options and recommendations.

Tip: Choose the right format for your needs—standard 37 mm for full dress or request the gala miniature for compact wear. Consider browsing related ceremonial and military memorabilia items to complete a display or uniform set.
