It combines a distinctive color and badge with practical features for prolonged wear.

Definition: a green Spanish-style military beret with a hand-embroidered red badge, made for amphibious-qualified sailors and naval use.

- Color and badge: green beret with a red embroidered badge (canutiglia gold embroidery for sanctioned amphibious personnel).
- Materials: 94% wool, 6% nylon for a structured but comfortable fit.
- Trim and fit: black grosgrain edge and rear drawcord for size adjustment.
- Lining and ventilation: internal mesh lining for improved breathability during extended wear.
- Style: Spanish-style design that signals naval identity and professional appearance.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: wear as part of naval uniform, for ceremonial duties, or as a collectible item for military surplus and tactical gear enthusiasts. The beret is intended to indicate amphibious qualification and unit affiliation.

In most cases, the rear drawcord allows a custom fit for daily use or formal occasions, while the wool blend and mesh lining provide reasonable comfort for extended wear. It works well in both duty and dress contexts where a professional naval appearance is required.

Care and notes

General care guidance and practical notes to keep the beret in good condition and to manage expectations about availability.

- Follow the garment care label; wool-blend items often require gentle cleaning or professional dry cleaning.
- Avoid heavy abrasion on the badge to preserve the hand-embroidered canutiglia detail.
- Use the rear drawcord to adjust fit rather than stretching the band.
- Limited availability: the beret is produced in restricted quantities and may be in high demand.
