Product description:

Product overview

The Soggolo Primo Maresciallo Aeronautica is a ceremonial cap band designed for the Primo Maresciallo service cap, reserved for personnel of the Italian Aeronautica Militare. Definition: a soggolo is a decorative band attached to a military cap to indicate rank and unit affiliation.

Made for uniformed duties, parades and official representation, this soggolo also appeals to collectors of military surplus and duty uniform accessories. It combines formal appearance with durable materials for regular use.

Main features

Clear, rank-identifying design and verified supply conditions for authorised personnel.

- Distinctive design: gold ribbon with a blue-striated central area and a 3 mm horizontal stripe; outer perimeter edged in red.
- Rank galloncini: three gold stripes per side, each edged in red (1 mm) with a light-blue central stripe, positioned at temple height.
- Durable materials: manufactured with quality materials to maintain appearance over time.
- Restricted sale: reserved to Aeronautica Militare personnel or authorised collectors (see purchase requirements).
- Limited availability: stock is limited and purchase requires document verification.

How to use / When it’s useful

Wear the soggolo attached to the Primo Maresciallo cap, aligned at the temples so the galloncini are visible on both sides. It is intended for formal duty wear, ceremonial occasions and official representation.

Quick answer: attach it to the designated cap model for Primo Maresciallo to show rank. In most cases: it is used during parades, ceremonies and other formal service duties where proper insignia is required.

Care and notes

Handle and store the soggolo carefully to preserve its appearance; follow the notes below for purchase and care.
