Product overview

The Medaglia Valore Militare Savoia Bronzo is a historic Italian military medal intended for collectors, military history enthusiasts, and museums. It was instituted by King Carlo Alberto di Savoia to honor non-commissioned officers and soldiers for notable acts of valor in wartime.

Definition: This is a bronze military medal (37 mm diameter) awarded for distinguished military actions and bearing period inscriptions with the recipient’s name, place and date.

Main features

Key attributes that matter for collectors and military surplus buyers.

- Historic design: Front shows the Sabaudo shield surrounded by laurel branches and the royal crown, with the inscription "al valor militare".
- Identifying marks: Reverse often bears two laurel branches surrounding the recipient’s name, the place and the date of the action.
- Size: Diameter 37 mm — suitable for display or storage in a collection.
- Material: Cast in bronze for long-term durability and typical period patina.
- Collector value: Each piece carries historical provenance and interest for military memorabilia collectors.
- Limited availability: Historic medals of this type are sought after and can be scarce.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use this medal primarily as a display or research item within a collection of military memorabilia, or as part of a historical exhibit. It is suitable for collectors of military surplus, historians, and educational displays.

Quick answer: Display it in a frame, shadow box, or a labeled display case to preserve its condition. In most cases, collectors keep the original patina and documentation to retain historic and resale value.

Care and notes

Simple care tips help preserve the medal and its inscriptions.

- Handle with clean, dry hands or gloves to avoid oils and corrosion.
- Avoid aggressive polishing — light cleaning preserves patina and inscriptions.
- Store in a dry, stable environment away from direct sunlight and humidity.
- Note that individual medals may show wear, surface marks, or patina consistent with age.

FAQ

Q: What material is the medal made of?

A: The Medaglia Valore Militare Savoia is made of bronze, chosen for durability and its characteristic aged appearance.

Q: What are the medal dimensions?

A: The medal measures 37 mm in diameter, a standard size for display and storage in collections.

Q: What do the inscriptions mean?

A: The front bears the Sabaudo shield and the phrase "al valor militare." The reverse typically shows laurel branches framing the recipient’s name, the place and the date of the action.

Q: Who can buy this medal?

A: It is available to collectors, historians, museums, and anyone interested in military memorabilia and military surplus items.

Q: Is the medal an original period piece?

A: Descriptions indicate a period-style medal with historic markings; individual condition and provenance should be reviewed before purchase.

Q: Why is availability limited?

A: Historic military medals are typically produced in limited numbers and many remain in private collections or archives, so supply is often low while demand stays steady.

Tip: Choose the correct variant or size when available and consider browsing related military surplus and collector items to complete a display or research collection.
