Product description:

Product overview

The Chepì for the Grande Uniforme Storica of the Polizia Penitenziaria is a ceremonial headpiece designed for prison police personnel and authorised collectors. It is intended for formal ceremonies, parades and official occasions where the historic uniform is required. Definition: the Chepì is a formal, truncated-cone ceremonial cap worn with the Grande Uniforme Storica.

This Chepì combines traditional symbols and refined details to represent duty and institutional identity. Keywords: chepì, ceremonial police cap, military surplus-style headgear, duty uniform accessory.

Main features

Carefully crafted to match the Grande Uniforme Storica, this Chepì includes historic insignia and functional fittings.

- Truncated-cone (troncoconica) shape with the narrower end at the top for an elegant silhouette.
- Front blue tassel (nappina) adding traditional color and distinction.
- Blue braid positioned above the visor for a refined appearance.
- Tricolor Italian cockade at center with a silver bullion (canutiglia) embroidered badge on blue cloth showing a torch, flame and laurel branches.
- Shield at the torch base bearing the "RI" monogram (Repubblica Italiana).
- Fitted chinstrap (sottogola) for secure and comfortable wear.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use the Chepì with the Grande Uniforme Storica for official ceremonies, formal parades and institutional events. Quick answer: it is primarily for active Polizia Penitenziaria personnel who must wear historic dress for formal duties.

Collectors with the correct prefectural licence may also acquire a Chepì for display or archive purposes. In most cases, the item is ordered for ceremonial duty or curated collections where authentic insignia and correct appearance are required.

Care and notes

Keep the Chepì protected from prolonged moisture and store it flat or on a suitable form to preserve shape. Note the purchase and delivery conditions below.
