How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: The soggolo fits the rigid service cap and visually identifies the wearer’s rank during duty, ceremonies, and inspections. Attach it to the cap as per your uniform regulations.

In most cases, you will use this braid for formal uniform presentation, parade duty, or when building a military surplus collection. Collectors must present the prefectural licence; serving personnel must supply proof of corps membership or list their barracks at registration for verification.

Care and notes

Simple care keeps the braid presentable and preserves metallic details; follow uniform care rules and avoid harsh cleaning agents.

- Gently brush or wipe with a soft, dry cloth to remove dust.
- Avoid soaking or aggressive solvents that could damage metallic trims.
- Store flat or on a cap block to maintain shape and prevent creasing.
- Sale restricted: verification of military ID or prefectural licence is required before purchase.
