Quick answer: attach the badge with the rear clamp to the jacket lapel where pins are normally worn, ensuring the clip is firmly closed to avoid rotation. The size and finish keep the badge discreet and formally appropriate.

In most cases, this badge is used at civic ceremonies, commemorations, institutional events, association meetings and for collectible displays. It works well on jackets, coats and other medium-weight fabrics; test the clamp on delicate textiles before regular use.

A: It uses a rear clip with a clamp. This fastening is stable and suitable for most jackets and coats.

Q: Where should I position it on civilian dress?

A: Place it on the jacket lapel or the area of the chest where pins are normally worn, keeping it neat and visible.

Q: Is this badge suitable for collectors?
