Definition: a brunished metal beret badge (4.4 cm) bearing the ARDITI INCURSORI inscription and symbolic elements (gladius, anchor, nautical rope). The badge serves as a visible symbol of unit affiliation and professional identity in tactical and military duty contexts.

Main features

Key features include durable materials, clear symbolic design, and a secure rear clamp attachment suitable for operational use.

- Material and finish: brunished (darkened) metal for durability and a refined look.
- Symbolic design: ARDITI INCURSORI inscription framed by laurel, with a gladius crossed with an anchor and a nautical rope—representing strength, maritime tradition, and seamanship.
- Size: 4.4 cm diameter—visible yet discreet for beret wear.
- Attachment: rear clamp system designed for a secure fit on a beret during active use.
- Availability: limited quantities; purchase is restricted to authorized personnel and subject to verification.

How to use / When it’s useful

Wear the badge centered on the beret as part of the unit uniform; align the design so the inscription and emblem are upright. Check the rear clamps before use to ensure the badge is firmly fixed and will not shift during movement.

Quick answer: attach using the rear clamps and confirm a secure fit before field use. In most cases, purchase requires proof of membership with the Arditi Incursori and verification by Tutto Militare before the order is accepted.

Care and notes

Simple care preserves finish and attachment reliability; follow these practical notes before and after use.

- Avoid abrasive cleaners or harsh chemicals that could damage the brunished finish.
- Wipe with a soft, dry cloth to remove dirt and moisture; store in a dry place.
- Check the clamp attachment periodically and tighten or replace if worn.
- Sale restricted to authorized Arditi Incursori personnel—proof of service is required for purchase.
