Product overview

The Soggolo Colonnello Carabinieri is a rank cord reserved for personnel of the Arma dei Carabinieri, used to indicate the rank of Colonel on dress uniforms. Definition: a decorative silver bullion cord with three silver rank bands identifying the Colonnello grade.

This ceremonial cord is made with durable silver canutiglia and features distinctive rank galloons; it is suited for formal duty, tactical parades and military surplus collections for authorized personnel.

Main features

Carefully manufactured to match official appearance and durability requirements.

- Construction: silver canutiglia (canutiglia argentata) cord, double-twisted ends, 17 mm caliber.
- Rank insignia: three silver galloons on each side, wide type 52 mm, edged in black to identify the Colonnello rank.
- Official use: reserved for members of the Arma dei Carabinieri; sale subject to identity/service verification.
- Durability: metal-thread construction designed for long-lasting appearance with proper care.
- Suitable for: formal duty wear, ceremonial events, and collectors of military surplus or police gear (for verified personnel).

How to use / When it's useful

Quick answer: the soggolo is a ceremonial cord worn on the uniform at the temple level to display the Colonnello rank. It should be used where formal insignia are required: parades, official ceremonies, and duty appearances.

In most cases, you must be serving with the Arma dei Carabinieri and complete the required purchase verification before the order is approved. Keep the cord clean and presentable for duty or display.

Care and notes

Simple care preserves appearance and prevents damage to the metallic threads.

- Store flat or hanging to avoid kinks; avoid heavy folding.
- Clean gently with a soft, dry cloth; do not use harsh chemicals or abrasive cleaners.
- Sale is restricted: provide a copy of your tesserino or service attestation for purchase verification.
- Delivery to a barracks or provincial command address can be used to confirm eligibility before purchase is approved.
