Product overview

This is the Medaglia di Protezione Civile da Labaro o Stendardo Associativo: a collective honor medal designed for associations and organizations officially recognised by the Dipartimento della Protezione Civile. Definition: it is a formal collective decoration intended to be mounted on a labaro or ceremonial standard to acknowledge an organisation’s service and civic contribution.

Ideal for volunteer groups, civil protection units and organisations maintaining public-service roles; it is suitable for display in ceremonies, memorials and institutional events. Useful keyword contexts: tactical, military surplus, police ceremonial equipment.

Main features

Clear, durable construction with official visual elements and a presentation case suited to ceremonial display.

- Golden metal finish selected for prestige and durability.
- Standard diameter 35 mm, consistent with national honor standards.
- Anti-oxidation protective treatment to preserve the medal outdoors.
- Engraved rear reserved for the DPCM date of conferment.
- Ceremonial ribbon: length 1 meter, width 37 mm, institutional blue with a 9 mm vertical tricolour stripe (green, white, red).
- Presentation case: rigid blue exterior with national Protezione Civile logo on a tricolour background; white satin interior with shaped panel, easel and anti-slip display support.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use the medal for official ceremonies, regional commemorations, school outreach or when the association wishes to make its state recognition visible on a labaro or standard. Quick answer: display it on the front-left of the drape at central height so the ribbon is fully visible.

In most cases, the medal is applied via a sewn loop or ring support on the drape or the staff edge; place it symmetrically with other official decorations following regional or national protocol. It reinforces civic identity, supports educational displays and marks anniversary events.

Care and notes

Store and handle the medal and case to preserve finish and legibility; follow simple maintenance steps below.

- Keep the medal in the presentation case when not on display.
- Clean with a microfiber cloth; avoid abrasive cleaners.
- Avoid prolonged exposure to humidity or direct sunlight to prevent damage.
- The ribbon is integral to the insignia and not intended to be interchangeable.
- Sale requires official attestation from the Dipartimento della Protezione Civile; only recognised organisations should acquire and display this medal.

FAQ

Q: Can the medal be displayed during religious events?

A: Yes. The medal may be displayed during religious ceremonies and is compatible with official ceremonial use in those settings.

Q: Can I buy the medal without official documentation?

A: No. Purchase requires presentation of the official attestation to confirm the association’s recognition and the authenticity of the award.

Q: Is this medal available for associations not registered nationally?

A: Only associations recognised by the Dipartimento della Protezione Civile are eligible to acquire and display this collective decoration.

Q: Can the ribbon be replaced with a different colour or pattern?

A: No. The ribbon is part of the official insignia and must remain the institutional blue with the 9 mm tricolour stripe.

Q: Can you engrave additional text such as the association name?

A: The official requirement is the DPCM date on the rear, but on request we can add the association name and patent number as an extra engraving for display purposes.

Q: Is the presentation case available separately from the medal?

A: The case is designed to accompany the official medal and is supplied together; it is not offered separately as a standalone item.

Tip: Choose the variant that matches your official attestation and consider ordering engraving to include your association name for display; browse related ceremonial and display accessories to complete your presentation.
