Product overview

The Gruppo Sanguigno Tuta OP Carabinieri is a rubber blood-type identification patch with rear velcro, made for Carabinieri operators and other duty, tactical or police personnel who need quick, visible blood-group identification in the field. It attaches to the OP operational suit to make blood type easy to read during emergency or medical situations.

Definition: a rubber blood-type patch with rear velcro for attachment to the Carabinieri OP suit. Choose your blood group from the dropdown when ordering; stock is limited due to demand.

Main features

Designed for clear identification and a secure fit on the OP operational suit, this patch supports faster medical response and simple, reliable use in tactical and duty environments.

- High-quality rubber: Durable material for long-lasting use and resistance to normal wear.
- Rear velcro: Fast, secure attachment to velcro panels on the OP suit.
- Instant identification: Clear blood-group marking for quick reading by medical personnel.
- Custom selectable: Select your blood group from the product dropdown before checkout.
- Designed for Carabinieri OP suit: Fits the OP uniform layout and does not affect comfort or function.
- Compatible with other velcro: Can be used on other uniforms that have compatible velcro panels.

How to use / When it’s useful

Attach the patch to the velcro panel on the OP suit—alignment takes only a few seconds and the rear velcro holds it in place during routine and active operations. Quick answer: it attaches in seconds using the rear velcro and is immediately readable.

Use the patch during patrols, exercises, emergency response, medical evacuation or any duty where rapid blood-group identification may help first responders. In most cases, having the blood group visible speeds medical decisions and supports safer field care.

Care and notes

Keep the patch clean and check the velcro regularly to ensure secure attachment; select the correct blood group at purchase. Note: this item is an identification accessory and not a medical device.

- Wipe clean with mild soap and water; avoid harsh chemicals or abrasive cleaners.
- Check velcro and attachment point before each mission or duty.
- Verify the selected blood group in the dropdown before ordering.
- Fits other garments only if the velcro is compatible.

FAQ

Q: How do I select my blood group?

A: Use the product dropdown menu to choose your blood group before adding the item to the cart. Double-check the selection during checkout to avoid errors.

Q: Is the rear velcro durable?

A: Yes, the rear velcro is designed to provide a secure hold on compatible velcro panels during normal duty and active operations. Regular inspections are recommended.

Q: Is the material resistant to wear?

A: The patch is made from high-quality rubber built to resist normal wear and operational use. Clean and maintain it as instructed to preserve appearance and function.

Q: Can I use this patch on other suits?

A: The patch is specifically designed for the Carabinieri OP suit but will work on other garments that have compatible velcro panels. Verify fit before field use.

Q: How long does it take to apply?

A: Application is rapid and typically takes only a few seconds thanks to the rear velcro. Make sure the attachment surface is clean for the best hold.

Q: Is this a medical device?

A: No, this item is an identification accessory intended to display blood group information; it does not replace formal medical ID or records.

Tip: When ordering, select the correct blood-group variant from the dropdown and verify compatibility with your suit's velcro. Consider browsing related tactical and police duty accessories to complete your kit.
