How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Use it as a rain poncho over clothing and packs, or rig it as an emergency shelter or groundsheet using the aluminum eyelets. It works well for patrols, hiking, camping, and emergency preparedness.

In most cases, the poncho is worn over kit for full-body and gear protection; for shelter use, attach cords to trees or stakes and secure the eyelets to create a simple tarp or lean-to. Its light weight and compact carry bag make it easy to keep in a backpack or vehicle.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the poncho functional and extends its service life. Store dry and avoid sharp contact that could damage the fabric or fittings.

- Wipe clean with a damp cloth and mild soap; air dry completely before packing.
- Avoid prolonged exposure to high heat or open flames; PVC can be damaged by excessive heat.
- Inspect eyelets and snaps after use and repair or replace if damaged to maintain waterproof performance.
- Roll and store in the supplied vegetato carry bag to save space and protect the poncho in transit.
