Product overview

The Distintivo Val Tagliamento Battaglione Alpini d'Arresto is an enamelled metal badge that honors the Val Tagliamento Alpini battalion and is aimed at collectors, veterans, military surplus shoppers and tactical gear enthusiasts. Definition: a small enamelled metal badge representing the Battaglione Alpini d'Arresto Val Tagliamento.

This compact emblem combines military and mountaineering symbols—three stylized bayonets (from fucile mod. 91), an ice axe and a climbing rope against a snowy mountain with the Amariana in the background. Size: 2.4 cm wide x 3.2 cm high; limited availability makes it popular with collectors and history enthusiasts.

Main features

Clear, durable construction and a symbolic design that reflects the battalion's alpine history.

- Material: Enamelled metal for durability and detailed color.
- Symbolic design: Three stylized bayonets (fucile mod. 91), an ice axe and rope tied with three turns ending at a piton.
- Local detail: Background shows the Amariana at the confluence of the Fella and Tagliamento rivers.
- Compact size: 2.4 cm (W) x 3.2 cm (H) — ideal for lapels, collection boards or display cases.

How to use / When it's useful

Quick answer: wear it as a lapel or hat pin for private events, add it to a display board, or keep it in a collection of military and tactical memorabilia. In most cases, collectors use this badge for display rather than active uniform use.

Use it to show affiliation or interest in Alpine military history, to supplement a military surplus kit display, or as a gift for veterans and enthusiasts. Check unit or uniform regulations before wearing the badge on official or duty garments.

Care and notes

Simple care preserves the enamel and metal finish; handle the badge gently and store it in a dry place.
