Product overview

The Panno Kaki Esercito is a khaki cloth panel designed for people who build and arrange their own ribbon bars—suitable for collectors, military surplus sellers, tactical kit assemblers, and police or duty equipment users. It lets you create custom ribbon configurations to fit metal backing plates or display mounts.

Definition: the Panno Kaki Esercito is a rectangular khaki fabric piece cut to size for mounting one to more than twenty ribbon strips.

Main features

Practical and adaptable, this fabric panel is offered in multiple sizes and made to withstand regular handling while allowing easy customization.

- Self-assembly: Use the panel to compose your own ribbon layouts and arrange nastrini as needed.
- Multiple sizes: Cut or select sizes for configurations from a single ribbon up to 20+ ribbon positions.
- Easy selection: Choose the required size from the product dropdown menu for quick order placement.
- Durable material: Made from quality fabric for long-lasting use and repeated handling.
- Versatile use: Suitable for display mounts, metal ribbon plates, and custom tactical or duty setups.

How to use / When it’s useful

Cut the panel to the desired length or pick the correct preset size from the dropdown, then mount ribbon strips onto your metal backing plates or display frame. It works well for simple one-strip arrangements and complex layouts over multiple rows.

Quick answer: select the size that matches your ribbon plate or cutting plan before ordering. In most cases, a larger panel can be trimmed down for multiple smaller configurations or to accommodate additional ribbons later.

Care and notes

Store and handle the panel flat or rolled to avoid creases; confirm sizes before cutting and follow your usual mounting method for ribbon strips.

- Check the dropdown sizes carefully before purchase.
- Trim with appropriate tools to get clean edges for a neat fit on metal plates.
- Keep panels dry and store flat to preserve appearance and shape.
- Availability can be limited—order the correct variant when you are ready.

FAQ

Q: What sizes are available for the Panno Kaki Esercito?

A: The panel is offered in several preset sizes and can also be trimmed to measure. Sizes cover configurations from one ribbon up to more than twenty positions.

Q: How do I choose the right size?

A: Quick method: measure the length of your metal ribbon plate or the total width of the ribbons you intend to mount, then select the closest preset size from the dropdown.

Q: Is the Panno Kaki Esercito durable?

A: Yes, it is made from quality fabric intended for repeated handling and mounting. Proper storage and correct trimming will extend its usable life.

Q: Can I use it for complex ribbon layouts?

A: Yes. The panel supports simple single-ribbon setups and more complex assemblies up to and beyond 20 ribbon positions, depending on the size chosen.

Q: How is the fabric applied to metal plates?

A: The fabric is cut to fit the metal backing and then secured using your preferred method for mounting ribbons—adhesive, stitching, or by fitting behind retaining hardware, depending on your plate design.

Q: Is the product readily available?

A: Stock can be limited. If you need a specific size, we recommend selecting the correct variant and ordering promptly to avoid missing out.

Tip: Before adding to cart, confirm the panel size you need and consider buying a slightly larger size to trim for multiple uses; also browse related tactical and military surplus mounting accessories to complete your setup.
