Product overview

The Fascetta Metallo EOLIE 2002 is a bronzed metal band engraved with "EOLIE 2002," made to mark the Stromboli volcanic events of December 2002. It is suitable for collectors, museums, military surplus traders, tactical gear resellers and police/duty displays that need a historically referenced metal tag.

Definition: a small bronzed metal identification band with foldable side tabs, produced in accordance with DPCM 7/2/2008 and engraved "EOLIE 2002". Limited quantities available.

Main features

Designed for durability and clear identification, this commemorative metal band combines a precise engraving with practical mounting tabs.

- Bronzed metal construction: durable finish for long-term display.
- Precise engraving: clear "EOLIE 2002" inscription linked to the December 2002 Stromboli events.
- Compact size: 38 mm length x 7 mm height — discreet and visible.
- Foldable side tabs: built-in tabs fold for straightforward attachment to different supports.
- Regulatory reference: produced in accordance with DPCM 7/2/2008.

How to use / When it’s useful

Attach the band by folding the side tabs around the chosen support — the tabs are designed for quick fastening to fabric, straps or display mounts used in collections or duty equipment. It is commonly used as a commemorative identifier rather than as load-bearing hardware.

Quick answer: fold the side tabs to secure the band to the support. In most cases, the band is applied by hand and does not require special tools.

Care and notes

Simple care keeps the metal finish presentable and the engraving legible over time. Handle the tabs gently when folding to avoid bending beyond their intended range.

- Wipe with a soft, dry cloth to remove dust; avoid harsh chemicals.
- Fold tabs carefully — repeated rough handling may deform them.
- Store in a dry place to reduce surface tarnish over time.
- Availability is limited; orders may require verification documents.

FAQ

Q: What are the dimensions of the Fascetta Metallo EOLIE 2002?

A: The band measures 38 mm in length and 7 mm in height. These compact dimensions make it discreet yet visible on displays or gear.

Q: What material is the band made from?

A: It is made of bronzed metal, designed for durability and a long-lasting finish suitable for collection or display purposes.

Q: How is the band applied?

A: The band has foldable side tabs that are bent to secure it to various supports. In most cases this is done by hand and does not require tools.

Q: What does "EOLIE 2002" refer to?

A: The engraving commemorates the volcanic events at Stromboli in December 2002, related to the Aeolian Islands (Eolie) area.

Q: Can I order more than one band?

A: Yes, multiple units can be ordered. To facilitate the order, please send a copy of the required attestation through the site’s contact function so we can process your request.

Q: Is this product compliant with any regulation?

A: The item is described as produced in accordance with DPCM 7/2/2008. If you need further documentation, include that request when you send the attestation via the contact function.

Tip: Choose the correct quantity and check related tactical or military surplus items to complete your display or inventory; consider browsing similar commemorative bands and duty tags to find matching pieces.
