Definition: A shemag (keffiyeh) is a large square cotton scarf used to protect the head, face and neck from sun, wind and sand.

- Material: Sand-resistant 100% cotton with a breathable weave for comfort in hot conditions.
- Size: Large 120 x 120 cm square for full head and neck coverage and multiple carry options.
- Color: Kaki desert tone for low-visibility blending in arid environments.
- Versatile use: Wear as a head wrap, face cover, neck scarf, or band to suit changing conditions.

How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: Fold the shemag into a triangle and wrap it around the head and neck to shield skin from sun and sand. This traditional method keeps the fabric secure while covering the face and neck as needed.

In most cases, you can adjust fit by knotting, tucking, or using it as a neck gaiter for dust protection, as a head covering for sun protection, or as a light scarf in cooler conditions. It is useful for tactical operations, patrols, and any activity in desert or dusty environments.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the shemag comfortable and functional over time; treat it like other cotton garments.

- Wash with mild detergent on a gentle cycle or by hand; avoid harsh chemicals.
- Air dry in shade to reduce fading; iron on low if needed.

- Store dry and folded to prevent mildew or odors.
- Note: This shemag provides environmental protection (sun, wind, sand) but is not protective against chemical, ballistic, or certified industrial hazards.
