Product overview

The Vega Holster VKU8 Under Jacket VH thermoformed polymer holster is a concealed-carry holster designed for professionals and civilian users who need a secure, low-profile option for everyday carry. It suits tactical, duty, police, and military surplus buyers looking for reliable retention and comfort.

Definition: a thermoformed polymer under-jacket holster with a rotary retention cord and adjustable retention screw for secure concealed carry.

Main features

Built for discreet carry, the VKU8 combines durable materials, adjustable retention and multiple mounting options to fit a wide range of pistols and user preferences.

- Material: High-quality thermoformed polymer for durable, lightweight protection.
- Security system: Rotary retention cord (laccio rotativo) that prevents unauthorized removal while allowing fast access.
- Adjustable retention: Retention screw lets you fine-tune how tightly the firearm sits in the holster.
- Included mounting kits: Double mounting kit with 8K26 (multi-tilt with double adjustable slot) and 8K27 paddle (tilt and belt-height adjustment).
- Hand options: Available in right- and left-hand versions; select the correct side when ordering.
- Wide model compatibility: Fits many pistols—examples include VKU800 Beretta 92/98 FS, VKU804 Glock 17/22/31/37, VKU809 Glock 19/23/25/32/38, VKU863 Sig Sauer P220/226, VKU881 Sig Sauer P320, VKU864 Springfield XD, VKU858 1911s, and others listed under VKU codes.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use the VKU8 for concealed carry under a jacket or cover garment when you need a secure, low-profile setup. Mount the holster with the included 8K26 or 8K27 fittings to match your belt position and desired cant.

Quick answer: set the retention screw for a snug fit and choose the mounting kit that gives the carry angle and height you prefer. In most cases, the rotary cord remains closed during routine wear and allows rapid draw when released.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the holster working reliably: clean, check fasteners, and confirm fit with your firearm before use. Note the product is offered in limited stock and must be ordered in the correct hand orientation and model code.

- Wipe with a damp cloth; avoid solvents that can damage polymer.
- Periodically check and tighten the retention screw and mounting hardware.
- Always verify pistol compatibility using the VKU model codes before ordering.
- Choose right- or left-hand version at checkout to ensure correct draw orientation.

FAQ

Q: Which pistols fit the VKU8 holster?

A: The VKU8 series fits many common pistols. Examples include Beretta, Glock, Sig Sauer, H&K, Springfield and 1911 models—refer to the VKU model codes to confirm an exact match.

Q: How do I adjust the retention?

A: Adjust retention using the built-in screw. Turn it in small increments and test secure seating and draw speed until the desired balance of retention and accessibility is reached.

Q: What is the rotary retention cord and how does it work?

A: The rotary retention cord (laccio rotativo) locks the pistol in place to prevent unauthorized removal. It rotates out of the way for a controlled, quick draw when released.

Q: Are both mounting options really included?

A: Yes. The package includes a double mounting kit with the 8K26 (multi-tilt) and the 8K27 paddle (belt-height and tilt adjustment) so you can choose the carry configuration that suits you.

Q: Can left-handed shooters use this holster?

A: Yes. The VKU8 is available in both right- and left-hand versions. Make sure to select the correct hand orientation when ordering.

Q: How do I order and confirm the correct model?

A: When ordering, provide the VKU code that matches your pistol model and select hand orientation. Confirm the code and model in your order notes so the holster is matched correctly to your firearm.

Tip: Select the correct hand version and the VKU model code for your pistol before checkout; consider trying both included mounting options (8K26 and 8K27) to find the most comfortable concealment carry setup and browse related tactical and duty holsters for comparison.
