Product overview

The Patch Brevetto Operatore Mine Risk with rear Velcro is an embroidered qualification patch designed for Mine Risk Operators, intended for use on tactical and operational uniforms by Corpo

Militare della Croce Rossa Italiana personnel and verified collectors. Definition: a Velcro-backed embroidered qualification patch that identifies trained mine risk personnel.

This patch is suitable for tactical, military surplus, duty and police gear with Velcro panels and is a visual sign of the holder’s training in mine risk operations.

Main features

Durable, regulation-compatible design made for easy mounting on Velcro-equipped uniforms and gear.

- Shape: Rectangular with rounded corners
- Size: Standard regulatory dimensions, compatible with Velcro panels
- Material: High-strength technical fabric, abrasion-resistant
- Embroidery: White thread on black background, high-density technique
- Fastening: Male Velcro sewn on the back
- Central design: Stylized ordnance symbol with white disk and red cross (Corpo Militare della Croce Rossa Italiana)
- Additional details: Embroidered laurel fronds and the top text "MRE – ERM – DOB"

How to use / When it’s useful

Use the patch on uniform Velcro panels, tactical jackets, vests or duty shirts to show Mine Risk Operator qualification. It is useful during operational deployments, training, public safety missions and formal duties where clear identification is required.

Quick answer: attach the patch to any compatible Velcro panel on your uniform for immediate identification. In most cases, this patch serves as a visible marker of training and role for teammates, command staff and external agencies during operations or humanitarian demining activities.

Care and notes

Basic care and purchase requirements to keep the patch serviceable and comply with sales rules.

- Spot clean with a damp cloth; avoid high heat and aggressive solvents.
- Remove patch before machine washing garments when possible to extend life.
- Sale reserved: purchase is limited to active Corpo Militare CRI personnel and collectors with a valid licenza prefettizia (ex art. 28 TULPS); document verification is required.
- Compatible with standard female Velcro panels on operational uniforms.
