Product overview

These embroidered gala travette (shoulder rank tabs) are the official high-rank insignia for officers of the Polizia di Stato, intended for use on dress (gala) jackets by Vice Questore Aggiunto, Vice Questore and Primo Dirigente. They are worn on the shoulders and fixed with a sewn support or internal fastening.

Definition: a pair of embroidered shoulder travette with a gilt metal heraldic eagle and enameled RI shield, made for police dress uniform use. Keywords: police gala insignia, duty dress, military surplus style, tactical representation.

Main features

Hand-stitched, ceremonial-quality travette with durable materials and accurate heraldic detail.

- Base fabric: heavy-weight black cloth
- Embroidery: gold canutiglia in a double-frame design
- Central badge: gilt metal heraldic eagle with turreted crown and red enameled shield marked “RI”
- Size: standard gala size, approx. 6 cm high × 3.6 cm wide each
- Construction: hand-embroidered using military-precision technique
- Durability: metalized thread resistant to light and humidity
- Attachment: reinforced back for stable fixing

How to use / When it’s useful

These travette are intended exclusively for dress uniform use on formal occasions and institutional representation. They are placed on the jacket shoulders and can be sewn in place or fixed with the jacket’s internal retention points.

Quick answer: worn only with the gala jacket by the specified Polizia di Stato ranks. In most cases, they are used for official ceremonies, state funerals, institutional delegations and high-representation duties at prefectures or ministries.

Care and notes

Store and handle the travette carefully to preserve embroidery, metal parts and enamel; follow the institutional rules for use and possession.

- Keep dry and avoid prolonged direct sunlight to protect metalized thread and enamel.
- Clean gently; avoid abrasive cleaners and machine washing of the badge itself.
- Sold as a pair (right + left); price refers to a pair.
- Sales restricted: available only to active Polizia di Stato personnel (valid ID required) or collectors with a prefectural license under art. 28 TULPS; documentation must be submitted when ordering.

FAQ

Q: Who can purchase these travette?

A: Purchase is limited to active Polizia di Stato personnel with valid ID and collectors holding a prefectoral license under art. 28 TULPS. Documentation is checked at order.

Q: Are these original, institutionally compliant items?

A: Yes. The travette match the official representation specifications used for gala uniforms and reproduce the heraldic elements in metal and enamel.

Q: How are the travette attached to the gala jacket?

A: They are fitted on the shoulder and can be sewn in place or secured using the jacket’s internal fixing points or sewn support provided on the travetta.

Q: Are travette sold individually or in pairs?

Q: Can civilians wear these travette?

A: No. Use and possession are subject to institutional rules; civilians may only acquire them with the required prefectoral license and under applicable regulations.

Q: Do you offer discounts for unit orders or multiple pieces?

A: Yes. Discounts are available for orders over set quantities or for departmental purchases; contact customer service to request a personalized quote.

Tip: Choose the correct pair and verify required documentation before ordering; check related items such as gala jackets, ceremony shirts and matching cap badges to complete the dress uniform set.
