Product overview

The Nastrino NATO SEA GUARDIAN is the official service ribbon for military and civilian personnel who served in NATO’s Sea Guardian maritime mission. It is intended for veterans, active duty members, collectors, and tactical or police units who want a regulation ribbon for uniform or display.

Definition: The NATO SEA GUARDIAN ribbon is the miniature, wearable form of the Sea Guardian medal, awarded for service in the Mediterranean operation started on 9 November 2016.

Main features

Clear, regulation-style ribbon with recognized symbolism and multiple mounting options for daily wear or ceremonial use.

- Eligibility: Awarded for at least 30 consecutive days or 60 non-consecutive days in the operation area (Mediterranean international waters and overlying airspace) from 9 November 2016.
- Dimensions: Width 37 mm, height 10 mm.
- Design: NATO blue background with two white stripes (outer thirds) and silver stripes centered on the white bands.
- Central plaque: Burnished, knurled metal cartouche with raised "SEA GUARDIAN" inscription identifying the mission.
- Mounting: Worn on the left chest above the jacket pocket; supplied with metal backing and selectable clamps or screws.
- Variants: Regulation flat ribbon and slightly curved "Elite" (bombed) finish for ceremonial use or collections.

How to use / When it’s useful

Wear the ribbon on the left chest above the pocket for everyday duty dress or on formal uniforms for ceremonies. The Elite curved version is suited for presentations, protocol events, and collectors who prefer a refined finish.

Quick answer: wear on the left chest above the pocket with other authorized ribbons or on a multi-place metal holder. In most cases, the ribbon is compatible with standard two- or multi-place ribbon mounts and can be ordered with the mount already attached for convenience.

Care and notes

Maintain the ribbon as part of your uniform or collection: keep it clean, dry, and mounted correctly to preserve appearance and compliance with uniform rules.

- Follow uniform regulations for placement and combination with other ribbons.
- Requests for official award recognition are typically subject to service records; in purchase terms, no documentation is required to buy the ribbon.
- Eligibility rules: 30 consecutive days or 60 non-consecutive days in the operation area; in cases of death or medically related evacuation linked to service, the time requirement is considered met.

- Choose clamps or screws at order time if you want the ribbon shipped pre-mounted.

FAQ

Q: Is the Nastrino NATO SEA GUARDIAN compliant with NATO regulations?

A: Yes. The ribbon follows the stated size, colors, and symbolic elements aligned with NATO-style ribbons and common regulation practice.

Q: Who is eligible to receive the ribbon?

A: Military and civilian personnel who served in the Sea Guardian operation for 30 consecutive days or 60 non-consecutive days in the defined area from 9 November 2016 onward are eligible for the ribbon.

Q: Do I need official documentation to purchase the ribbon?

A: No documentation is required to buy the ribbon as a product. Official award claims and service recognition follow separate administrative procedures with your chain of command.

Q: Can I choose how the ribbon is mounted?

A: Yes. You can select a metal backing with clamps or screws at order time, and you may order the ribbon pre-mounted on a single or multi-place holder.

Q: What is the difference between the regulation and Elite variants?

A: The regulation variant is a flat, standard ribbon for everyday or official use. The Elite variant is slightly curved (bombed) for a more formal presentation in ceremonies or collections.

Q: Are there discounts for bulk or unit orders?

A: Discounts for multiple purchases are often available; contact customer service for a tailored quote for units, events, or collector orders.

Tip: Pick the variant that fits your intended use—flat for standard duty, Elite for ceremonies—and consider ordering a matching metal holder or display box to keep the ribbon mounted and protected.
