Product overview

The Nastrino Operazione Soccorso Albania is a commemorative service ribbon for collectors, veterans, and uniform suppliers who want a respectful reminder of the 1991 humanitarian operations in Albania. It is suitable for display on uniform ribbon bars, commemorative crosses, or in collections of military surplus and tactical memorabilia.

Definition: The ribbon is a crimson strip crossed at the center by a thin Italian tricolour, produced in sizes and mounting options for wear or display.

Main features

This ribbon reproduces the recognisable design linked to the 1991 Albanian relief operations and is offered in several formats and sizes for duty uniforms, police display, or collector presentation.

- Distinctive design: Crimson ribbon with a thin Italian tricolour stripe at the center.
- Two sizes: Available in 37 mm or 20 mm widths to match standard ribbon bars and commemorative crosses.
- Multiple formats: Regular or flat finish, and a slightly domed "Elite" variant.
- Mounting options: Supplied mounted on a single-place ribbon bar with clamp or screw fittings; loose ribbon also available for crosses.
- Suitable uses: For uniform wear where permitted, display in collections, or replacement on commemorative insignia.
- Limited stock: Produced in limited quantities due to historical demand.

How to use / When it's useful

Quick answer: Wear on a single-place ribbon bar, mount on a multi-place ribbon bar if compatible, or use the loose ribbon for a commemorative cross. Check your organisation's dress rules before wearing.

In most cases, choose 37 mm for standard full-size ribbon bars or the 20 mm for miniature and gala displays. Collectors and military surplus shops will find the different finishes and mounting options useful for restoration, display, or sale.

Care and notes

Keep the ribbon clean and mounted securely to preserve appearance and historical value. These notes help maintain the ribbon whether worn or stored.

- Store away from direct sunlight and humidity to avoid fading.
- Handle fittings gently—use the selected clamp or screw attachment to avoid fabric damage.
- Confirm uniform regulations before wearing on duty or ceremonial dress.
- Available as loose ribbon for mounting on large or miniature commemorative crosses.

FAQ

Q: What sizes are available?

A: The ribbon is available in 37 mm and 20 mm widths. Choose based on your ribbon bar or commemorative cross size.

Q: Which mounting options can I choose?

A: You can order the ribbon mounted on a single-place ribbon bar with either a clamp attachment or screw fittings, or buy the ribbon loose for cross mounting.

Q: Is this an official military award?

A: This product reproduces the ribbon associated with the 1991 Albania relief operations. If you plan to wear it on a uniform, verify official dress regulations with your unit or organisation.

Q: Can I use it for a commemorative cross?

A: Yes. The ribbon is available loose for fitting to large commemorative crosses or miniature gala crosses.

Q: What does the colour and design mean?

A: The crimson base with a thin Italian tricolour at the center symbolises the humanitarian assistance and solidarity shown during the 1991 Albania operations.

Q: Is this suitable for collectors and tactical/military surplus shops?

A: Yes. The ribbon is offered in multiple finishes and sizes that suit collectors, military surplus dealers, and suppliers of tactical or police display items.

Tip: Choose the correct size and mounting option for your ribbon bar or commemorative cross, and browse related ribbon and display items to complete a uniform or collection.
