How to use / When it’s useful

Apply a modest amount to exposed skin and blend with fingers or a sponge to break up outlines; mix the three colors to match vegetation, soil and light conditions. Use for fieldcraft, tactical exercises, police duty or any situation that requires facial concealment.

Quick answer: apply small amounts and blend for natural-looking camouflage. In most cases, one modest application of cream covers the entire face; reapply as needed after heavy abrasion or extended exposure.

Care and notes

Store tubes with caps tightly closed in a cool, dry place to preserve freshness. The formula is designed to be gentle, but test on a small skin area if you have sensitive skin.

- Keep caps closed to maintain airtight seal and prevent drying.
- Avoid contact with eyes; rinse immediately with water if contact occurs.
- Test on a small patch if you have known skin sensitivities.
- Keep out of reach of children.

FAQ

Q: How long does the camo cream last on the face?

A: The creams are formulated to resist sweat and remain in place for extended periods. Duration depends on activity level and environmental conditions; occasional touch-ups may be needed.

Q: Are these creams suitable for all skin types?

A: The formula is made to be gentle and reduce the risk of irritation. If you have very sensitive skin or known allergies, perform a patch test before full use.

Q: How do I remove the camo cream?

A: Remove easily with natural soap and water. Use a gentle cleanser and warm water to wash off completely without harsh scrubbing.

Q: How much cream is needed for a full face application?

A: A modest amount of cream blended across the face is usually sufficient. Each 28.3 g tube provides multiple applications depending on coverage and blending style.

Q: Is the set easy to carry in a kit?

A: Yes. The flexible plastic tubes are lightweight and compact, making the set suitable for field kits, tactical packs, or duty bags.

Q: Can I mix the colors to match different environments?

Tip: Choose the set that best fits your standard operating environment and consider pairing it with other tactical or military surplus accessories for a complete kit; check related items for compatible applicators and storage solutions.
