Product overview

The Nastrino Quarta Armata is a historical military service ribbon intended for collectors, historians, and anyone preserving Italian military memorabilia. It represents the ribbon issued to members of the Fourth Army who took part in the 1915–1918 conflict.

Definition: the Quarta Armata ribbon is a red, white and green service ribbon associated with the Fourth Army's service in 1915–18, offered here for display, restoration or collection purposes. Suitable for military surplus, tactical displays, duty or police commemorative collections.

Main features

Available in multiple finishing options and mounting choices to match display and wearing needs.

- Colors: Red, white and green (Italian national colours).
- Formats: Standard flat ribbon and slightly domed “Elite” variant.
- Mounting options: Ribbon bar holder with clamp or with screws (selectable from the product menu).
- Loose ribbon: Can be purchased as a loose ribbon for medal mounting.
- Multi-place bars: Can be mounted on 2+ position metal ribbon bars to combine multiple ribbons on one base.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use the ribbon for authentic restoration of uniforms, to display in a medal case, or to add to a military surplus collection. Choose the flat format for standard presentation or the Elite domed finish for a slightly raised look.

Quick answer: select the format and mounting type from the menu before adding to cart. In most cases, collectors and museum staff mount these on metal ribbon bars or use the loose ribbon for medal rethreading or repairs.

Care and notes

Handle the ribbon with care and store it away from direct light and moisture to preserve color and fabric. Availability can be limited due to demand from collectors and historical enthusiasts.

- Keep away from prolonged sunlight to prevent fading.
- Store flat or on a metal bar to avoid creasing.
- Select clamp or screw mounting based on your display or uniform requirements.
- Note: limited stock—orders may sell out quickly.

FAQ

Q: What are the colours of the Nastrino Quarta Armata?

A: The ribbon uses red, white and green, matching the Italian national colours used for this historical service ribbon.

Q: Can I buy the ribbon as a loose strip for a medal?

A: Yes. Select the loose ribbon option in the product menu to receive the ribbon alone for medal mounting or restoration.

Q: What mounting options are available for the ribbon bar holder?

A: You can choose a ribbon bar holder with a clamp (morsetto) or with screws. Pick the preferred attachment type from the dropdown menu.

Q: Can multiple ribbons be mounted together on one metal base?

A: Yes. The ribbon can be produced and fitted on multi-place metal ribbon bars (two or more positions) to display several ribbons on a single base.

Q: How can I be sure of the ribbon quality?

A: The ribbon is made with attention to historical appearance and durable materials suitable for display and light wear. Inspect options and mounting choices before purchase for best results.

Q: Is the Nastrino Quarta Armata commonly available?

A: Demand is high among collectors and history enthusiasts, so availability may be limited. If an item is marked low stock, consider completing your purchase to secure it.

Tip: Choose the format and mounting option that fits your display or uniform needs, and check multi-place ribbon bars if you plan to combine several ribbons; browse related historical ribbons and display accessories to complete your collection.
