Product overview

The Sciabola Sottufficiali Aeronautica Militare is the ceremonial and service sabre issued for non-commissioned officers of the Aeronautica Militare. It is intended for personnel on duty and for licensed collectors who meet the purchase requirements.

Definition: this is a ceremonial duty sabre combining traditional design with service use for formal uniform wear. It is suitable for military surplus collectors and tactical uniform applications where regulations allow.

Main features

Designed to balance appearance, durability and correct uniform proportions, the sabre follows the customary specifications for Sottufficiali. Key attributes include:

- Guard and grip: metal with a gold finish for a formal, distinctive look.
- Scabbard: high-quality leather scabbard with metal fittings and a metal tip, finished to match the guard.
- Proportioned length: when sheathed and set on the ground, the top of the grip should be about 15 cm below the waist.
- Accessories: the dragona and the pendaglio are related, necessary accessories but sold separately.
- Optional items: a cloth cover may be available if selected from the product options.

How to use / When it’s useful

The sabre is carried as part of the Grande Uniforme and must be worn according to service protocol. It is fastened to the left hip and secured to the belt using the appropriate pendaglio for correct positioning and balance.

Quick answer: wear the sabre on the left hip attached to the pendaglio of the belt. In most cases, adjust the pendaglio length so the grip sits approximately 15 cm below the waist when the scabbard rests on the ground.

Care and notes

Basic care keeps the finish and leather in good condition and ensures the item remains compliant with service use. Follow these practical notes:

- Store the sabre dry and avoid prolonged exposure to moisture to protect the metal finish and the leather scabbard.
- Polish metal parts gently with a non-abrasive cloth; treat leather with appropriate leather care products.
- Sale restricted: available only to serving Aeronautica Militare personnel or licensed collectors; required documentation must be provided before shipping.
- The dragona and pendaglio are not included and must be purchased separately to complete formal wear.
- Delivery is by insured courier and can be made to the unit address or the registered delivery address once purchase requirements are verified.
