How to use / When it’s useful

Quick answer: use the Defender Fox for tactical tasks, general field cutting, utility work, and duty applications where a fixed, durable blade is required. The blade profile and thickness balance cutting ability with toughness.

In most cases, the Defender Fox performs well for outdoor operations, rescue tasks, and routine duty use by law enforcement or security personnel. Its materials and build quality also make it suitable for professional environments that require a dependable fixed-blade knife.

Care and notes

Basic care will keep the knife reliable and extend its service life.

- Clean and dry the blade after use; apply light oil to the steel to prevent corrosion.
- Keep the rosewood handle conditioned and dry to avoid swelling or cracking.
- Store the knife outside the sheath for long periods to prevent moisture buildup in the sheath.
- Sharpen with proper stones or tools rated for HRC 57/59 steel to maintain edge performance.
- Handle with care — the blade is sharp and can cause injury if misused.

FAQ

Q: What is the blade length of the Coltello Militare Tattico Defender Fox?

A: The blade length is 18 cm. This provides a balance between reach and control for many tactical and utility tasks.

Q: What material is the handle made from?

A: The handle is made of rosewood (palissandro), a hard, durable wood with a light walnut color and visible grain patterns for grip.

Q: Does the knife come with a sheath?

A: Yes, it is supplied with a black eco-leather sheath to protect the blade and provide secure transport.

Q: What is the hardness of the blade?
