Product overview

The Cappello Alpino Centurione Milizia Universitaria is a faithful reproduction of the alpine hat worn by Centurions of the 4^ Legione "Benito Mussolini" della Milizia Universitaria. It is aimed at military history collectors, reenactors, and buyers of military surplus or tactical-style headwear who want an accurate, handcrafted piece.

Definition: a handcrafted wool felt alpine hat replicating the Centurione headgear used by the 4^ Legione "Benito Mussolini" della Milizia Universitaria. This product is a reproduction, not an original historical artifact.

Main features

Handmade copy with historical detailing and a choice of materials. Suitable for display, reenactment, or as a collector item within tactical, military surplus, and duty-related collections.

- Material: grey-green wool felt; rabbit-felt version available (product code CA/150) for a softer finish at 240.00 Euro.
- Historic details: black band around brim and crown, black silk braid, and an embroidered badge on black cloth in gold thread.
- Badge design: faithful reproduction of the Milizia badge used until 1938: two laurel branches with a central roundel for the legion number, topped by a fasces with silver axe and a lion's head.
- Handcrafted production: each hat is made to order with careful attention to historical accuracy.
- Made to order: limited availability; production time is 20 days per order.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use this hat for historical displays, military heritage collections, and period reenactment where an accurate Centurione alpine hat is required. It works well alongside other military surplus or tactical-style gear for themed exhibitions or photo shoots.

Quick answer: wear it for display, reenactment, or collecting—it is not an original wartime item. In most cases, choose the wool felt version for durability and the rabbit-felt version if you prefer a finer feel.

Care and notes

Basic care supports long life and preserves embroidered details; the hat is handcrafted and should be handled gently.

- Store in a cool, dry place to avoid moisture damage to felt and embroidery.
- Spot clean only; avoid machine washing or heavy abrasion that could damage the braid or badge.
- Production time: allow 20 days—item is available only on order.
- Note: this is a replica for collectors and reenactors, not an original historical uniform piece.

FAQ

Q: What materials are used for the hat?

A: The standard hat is made from grey-green wool felt. A rabbit-felt version is also available for a softer finish (product code CA/150) at 240.00 Euro.

Q: How long does production take?

A: Production is made to order and typically takes 20 days. This allows for handcrafted detailing and quality control.

Q: Is the hat available in different sizes?

A: Yes, the hat is offered in multiple sizes. Check the size guide on our site or contact customer service for measuring tips to find the right fit.

Q: Is this an original or a reproduction?

A: This item is a faithful reproduction of the Centurione hat worn by the 4^ Legione "Benito Mussolini" della Milizia Universitaria. It is not an original wartime artifact.

Q: What historical details are included?

A: The hat reproduces the black band and silk braid, and an embroidered gold-thread badge showing two laurel fronds, a central legion number roundel, a fasces with silver axe, and a lion’s head—matching the Milizia badge used until 1938.

Q: How do I order this hat?

A: Order directly through our product page: select material and size, add to cart, and follow checkout steps. Production begins after the order is confirmed.

Tip: Choose the material and size carefully—refer to the size guide and consider the rabbit-felt version if you want a softer finish. Browse related military surplus and tactical items to complete your display or collection.
