Product overview

The Apache Tactical Gloves are protective, hard-wearing gloves designed for military training, airsoft, and demanding field use. They combine stretch fabric and leather with molded ABS reinforcements for impact resistance where you need it most.

Definition: Apache Tactical Gloves are durable duty-style gloves that provide hand protection and a secure grip for tactical, military surplus, and police applications. They are aimed at users who need reliable protection and control during training and field activities.

Main features

Built for durability and hand protection, these gloves balance abrasion resistance, tactile control, and a secure fit.

- Stretch fabric and leather construction: durable combination for flexibility and wear resistance.
- ABS finger reinforcements: molded inserts on the backs of the fingers add impact and abrasion protection.
- Leather palm inserts: applied patches on the palm improve grip and tactile feedback.
- Velcro wrist closure: adjustable strap ensures a secure, locked-in fit.
- Suitable uses: designed for training, airsoft, tactical duty, and general field tasks.

How to use / When it’s useful

Use Apache Tactical Gloves during weapon handling drills, obstacle courses, airsoft matches, or any tasks that require hand protection and a firm grip. They are also practical for general duty work where abrasion resistance and dexterity matter.

Quick answer: Wear them whenever you need added protection from knocks and scrapes while keeping finger movement and trigger control. In most cases, these gloves are appropriate for training, airsoft, and light duty applications within military surplus, tactical, or police contexts.

Care and notes

To keep the gloves in good condition follow simple care steps and safety notes.

- Hand wash gently and air dry to preserve leather inserts and shape.
- Keep velcro fastened when storing to avoid snagging and to protect the closure.
- Use leather conditioner occasionally on palm areas if recommended for the leather type.
- Warning: These gloves are protective against impacts and abrasions but are not a substitute for certified ballistic or cut-resistant equipment.

FAQ

Q: What materials are used in Apache Tactical Gloves?

A: They are made from a combination of stretch fabric (spandura) and leather, with black ABS inserts on the backs of the fingers for added protection.

Q: How can I ensure the gloves fit correctly?

A: Check the size chart provided with the product images to measure your hand and choose the correct glove size for a snug, comfortable fit.

Q: Are these gloves suitable for airsoft?

A: Yes. The gloves are designed for training and airsoft use, offering abrasion protection and improved grip during games and drills.

Q: Is the wrist strap adjustable?

A: Yes. The Velcro wrist closure is adjustable to secure the glove to your wrist and reduce movement during activity.

Q: Do the ABS inserts provide good protection?

A: The black ABS inserts on the finger backs provide robust protection against impacts and abrasion in common field situations.

Q: How should I clean and maintain these gloves?

A: Hand wash gently, air dry, and condition leather palm areas as needed. Keep the Velcro closed during storage to prevent damage.

Tip: Choose the correct size from the chart before ordering and consider browsing related tactical and military surplus gloves to find the best option for your specific duty or training needs.
